

Aerial Shot

Jacqui Fashimpaur

You enter a room full of Aperture Science's Aerial Faith Plates™. These state-of-the-art devices can launch you any whole number of squares in their specified direction! This is a prime opportunity to test them, so why don't you do that by using each plate exactly once on your way to the exit?

Make sure you travel only using the Aerial Faith Plates™. A number on a plate indicates the order in which it is used (so plate 1 is first). Aperture Science would like to remind you that we are not responsible for any injuries sustained from being flung across the room 30+ times.
